

Televisa has joined global leaders with its commitment to the Science Based Targets initiative

Mexico City, February 4, 2021 - Grupo Televisa, S.A.B. (“Televisa” or the “Company”) announced today that it has committed to the Science Based Targets initiative (SBTi), joining 1,000+ companies worldwide. The initiative drives ambitious climate action into the private sector by enabling companies to set science-based emissions reduction targets. It defines and promotes best practice in emissions reductions and net-zero targets in line with climate science.

Televisa is committed to reducing its greenhouse gas emissions and to strengthening its renewable energy programs in order to contribute to the national goal of clean energy generation, as well as to the United Nations’ Sustainable Development Goal number seven, which fosters the use of and access to affordable, reliable, sustainable and modern energy for all.

The Science Based Targets initiative is a partnership between CDP, which is a not-for-profit charity that runs the global disclosure system for investors, companies, cities, states and regions to manage their environmental impacts, the United Nations Global Compact (UNGC), World Resources Institute (WRI), and the World Wide Fund for Nature (WWF).

Sustainability is a priority to Televisa and an important component in the formulation of its business strategy.
